Sandra Havrilak is an experienced trial attorney who has handled a wide variety of civil litigation matters in her thirty-eight years of practicing law, but she now focuses her practice primarily on family law.

With a passion for helping individuals navigate sensitive and often challenging matters, Sandra is committed to providing comprehensive legal support in all aspects of family law. Her expertise encompasses a wide spectrum of family law issues, allowing her to assist clients with diverse needs, including equitable distribution, spousal support, child support, child custody, grandparent visitation, premarital agreements, post-divorce modifications, juvenile law, family abuse cases, abuse and neglect cases involving children, criminal law, guardianship and conservatorship, and appellant practice.

Sandra vigorously represents her clients and works with them to obtain the best possible result. Sandra invites her clients to be actively involved in all aspects of their case and to ask questions. She recognizes that, in the guardianship and family law arena in particular, this may be the most difficult time of her clients' lives, and she expertly guides them through it. Her diligent approach and extensive understanding of the law enables her to utilize all resources available to effectuate the best resolution for her clients. Sandra uses mediation, arbitration, and litigation when necessary.

Sandra holds an AV Preeminent® rating by Martindale-Hubbell®, the highest possible rating awarded by both peers and members of the judiciary, for her legal ability and ethical standards.
