Thomas' practice focuses primarily on Civil Litigation

Prior to joining Blankingship & Keith, Thomas served as a Judicial Law Clerk to the Honorable Tracy C. Hudson at the Prince William County Circuit Court of Virginia, where he provided critical research and offered recommendations on both civil and criminal cases. His work included contributions to a notable defamation case involving public figures, where he helped reconcile complex legal precedents.

In addition to his legal career, Thomas served as an Armor Officer in the Pennsylvania Army National Guard and in the U.S. Regular Army. In these roles, he led tank operations, managed logistics for over 200 soldiers, and was responsible for overseeing $41 million in assets.
